Walk In Our Shoes

Junior Kelli Culver and Amanda Rainey are enjoying the beautiful spring weather during a softball or baseball game.

Sophomore Mallore Bedsole (at right, middle) is going to class with a sucker in her mouth, knowing that she will have to throw it in the trash when she gets to class.

Pleasant Blake Weeks smiles as he usually does because he is such a nice person. Blake is a person who can be left in charge!

Walk In Our Shoes

Alan Sanders (right) is either showing off his chest or showing Chan Grantham the embroidery on his undershirt.

April Morgan (below) drives a truck decorated by the Future Business Leaders of America in the Homecoming Parade.

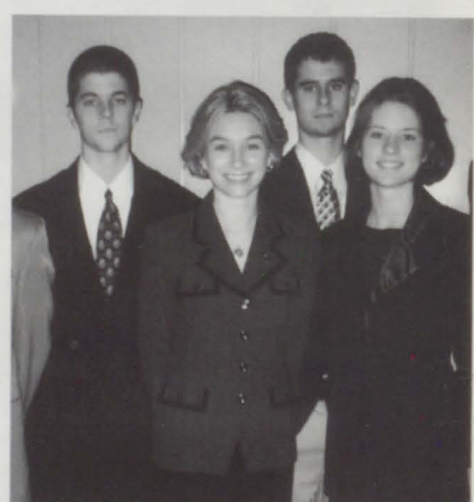

Christina Shuman, Alisha Walker, Kendra Ward, Michell McIntosh, and Carissa Walker (left, middle) are trying to prove that they are learning to cook.

Sherry Scarbrough wears sunglasses to hide her lack of sleep during a club, overnight, field trip.

Why is Ryan Leverett so happy? It could be many reasons — not having to do accounting, just having had lunch, just about to get to go home — any of these would do.

Chan Grantham, Tara Grant, Bo Adkison, and Morgan Hodge dress in professional business attire for an FBLA meeting.

Johnny Branham, Sonya Smith, and Pam Cotton Downing enjoy the bright sunshine.

Junior Jones wears his "chicken apron" so that he can cook during home ec.

These are the shoes that we have walked in and you will need to walk in if you want to follow us.

Angie Laney and Alisha Walker are trying to find the path that they need to walk in but the effort has been kind of painful.

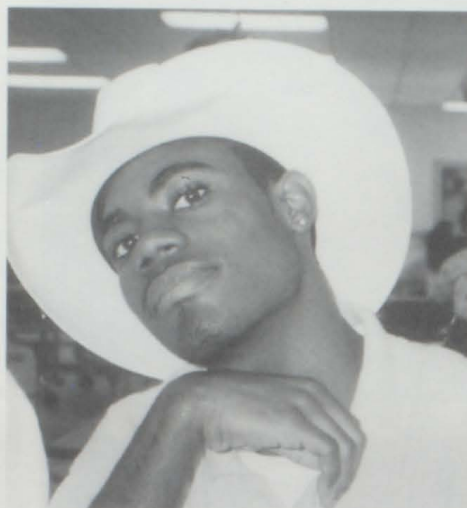

Mrs. Rachel Bryan holds her Planet Hollywood bag that holds her Planet Hollywood cup while standing in front of Planet Hollywood in Orlando, Florida.

Mrs. Anita Grant gets a big hug from Winnie the Pooh at Disney World. Winnie was visiting the British Pavilion at Epcot.

DAR Good citizen/Boys State/ Girls State

Angie Laney was selected as Zion Chapel's DAR Good Citizen. The Daughters of the American Revolution Good Citizens Program and Scholarship Contest is intended to encourage and reward the qualities of good citizenship. The program is open to all senior class students enrolled in accredited public or private secondary schools which are in good standing with the State Board of Education. The student selected as the school's DAR Good Citizen must have the qualities of dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism to an outstanding degree.

During her senior year, Angie served as the Future Homemakers of American State President as well as the local chapter president. She was president of the local FFA chapter, a senior representative to the Student Government Association, and a representative to the band council. Angie was also a member of the Future Business Leaders of America, Beta Club, and 4-H Club. She was selected as a delegate to the 4-H National congress and as a Farm City Youth.

Charlie Maddox attended the 1998 session of Alabama Boys State held on the campus of Montevallo University. Kendra Ward was chosen to represent Zion Chapel at the 1998 session of Alabama Girls State, held on the campus of Huntingdon College in Montgomery. Sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, Boys and Girls State are laboratories of practical government and a personal application of the duties, responsibilities, and privileges of American citizenship.

For one week, Charlie and Kendra each became a citizen in an imaginary state. They took part in the political life of their community, primarily through campaigning for and electing city, county, and state officers. They both learned the operation of government by participating in party caucuses and through the election process. Some of the speakers included state, county, and city officials who enlightened the young men and women on their civic responsibilities.

Varsity Cheerleaders

Senior Kendra Ward was named All-Star Cheerleader at the Universal Cheerleading Association Camp in Troy where the squad won first place in the cheering competition. This was the first time a ZC squad had brought home a first place trophy. The competition at this camp included all classes. The squad also won several superior and excellent ribbons during the camp. Kendra Ward is the squad captain. Squad co-captain is Kayla Eddins.

The girls showed dedicated effort by working concession stands at home football games for Troy State University. This was the cheerleaders' main fund raiser, raising over $2000. This money was used to cover some expenses incurred by the cheerleading squad.

Halftime entertainment at home and away basketball games is provided by the varsity cheerleaders. Building pyramids seems to be a favorite (above and right).

Band

Mr. Anthony Shay Watson (left) has been the Zion Chapel Rebel Band director for the past two years. The 1998-1999 year was Mr. Watson's last year at Zion Chapel, when school was out he moved to Nashville, Tennessee to start a new career. Mr. Watson will be working in recording studios as a session piano and keyboard player. Along with doing this he will also be writing songs for many Nashville recording artists. After he finishes in Nashville Mr. Watson will be moving to Boston, Massachusetts, where he will be attending Berlelee College of Music. He will be working on a degree in film scoring and performance. Mr. Watson, said, "I hope the Zion Chapel Band will continue its tradition of excellence and growth in the coming years. I hope that students will continue to push themselves individually as musicians."

The members of the intermediate band are (left) Lance Dickey, Erica Ellis, Nicole Brown, Maegan Johnson, Anna Edmondson, Meta Gatlin, Roy King, Zack Simmons, Kenna Roberts, Jenny Downing, Mr. Shay Watson, Shannon Allen, John Price, Randall Spears, Cobb Alexander, Charlie Hurd, Lucas Taylor, Jason Sanders, Levi Brown, Michael Sneed, Justin Bragg, and Brandon Parker. Tara Grant, Laura Williams, Mrs. Rachel Bryan, and Mrs. Anita Grant attended the National Leadership Conference that was held in Orlando, Florida, in July. During the trip Tara competed in Introduction to Parliamentary Procedure and Laura was introduced as Alabama's Who's Who in FBLA. Mrs. Bryan was named as Alabama's Advisor of the Year.

In November members attended the 1998 Officers Training Conference and National Fall Leadership Conference in Birmingham. Members attended various workshops where they learned more about their individual office. They heard Wanda Rushing speak about etiquette.

The community service project was conducted during Halloween. Students and children could have their picture taken with Santa Claus or The Great Pumpkin. The FBLA arranged for a professional photographer to come and take the pictures. In November members celebrated FBLA-PBL Free Enterprise Day.

In March twenty-nine students competed at the District Competitions that were held at Jeff Davis High School in Montgomery. There were three finalists in each event at the competition. All three finalists were eligible to compete at the State Leadership Conference. A student had to attend the District Competition, even if not competing to attend State Competition. District finalists were Dewayne Davis, Business Law; Mallorie Bedsole, FBLA Principles and Procedures; Blake Weeks, Business Calculations; Heather Arnold, Introduction to Parliamentary Procedure; Justin Law, Morgan Hodge, Jessica Kelley, Daphne Jinright, and Tara Grant, Parliamentary Procedure; Chastity Weed, Machine Transcription; Josh Faircloth, Information Processing; LaShell Marler, Word Processing; Ceretha Towles, Computer Applications; and Kendra Ward, Alisha Walker, Michell McIntosh, and Carissa Walker make up the Entrepreneurship team.

The State Conference was held in April in Montgomery. Mrs. Bryan and Mrs. Grant accompanied 29 students. The other chaperone was Mr. Randy Grant. Heather Arnold won third place in Introduction to Parliamentary Procedure. The Parliamentary Procedure Team, Justin Law, Jessica Kelley, Daphne Jinright, Morgan Hodge, and Tara Grant, won first place in their competition. They will compete at the National Leadership Conference.

Future Homemakers of America

"Families First" was the state and local project conducted by the members of the Future Homemakers of America. In October several members came to school early and cooked breakfast for the football team. This activity was a part of the state project. In November Angie Laney, Carrisa Walker, Alisha Walker, April Morgan, Michell McIntosh, Charlie Maddox, and Mrs. Joan Hobbs, FHA sponsor, attended the FHA/HERO cluster meeting held in St. Louis, Missouri. This cluster meeting was the largest in history with over 5,000 members in attendance. Over 30 Zion Chapel students attended the state convention held in April in Montgomery. Heather Arnold participated in the county cook off. She won second place with her recipe, Peanutty Honey Chicken. Heather Halsey won first place at the FHA county beef off with her recipe for Swiss Steak. Heather went on to compete at the state level. Lt. Cindy Dunaway from the Enterprise Police Department was one of the guest speakers during the year. She discussed crime and its effect on young people. During Christmas the FHA members sponsored a canned food drive to complete their community service efforts. In February the organization participated in a fund-raiser. Members sold chocolate, Easter and Precious Moments merchandise. Students who sold over $100 or more were rewarded with a pizza party. During the week of February 8-14 members decorated the halls with pink and red hearts. Members names were put on the hearts with a title "FHA Loves Its Members." On Friday the members were given a goody bag full of surprises to celebrate FHA/HERO week.

FFA

A variety of activities kept FFA members very involved. Twenty-one members attended the annual peanut boil that was held in September. Members of the chapter picked the peanuts off the vines, washed the peanuts, and then boiled them. Mr. Ted Fillingim and Mr. Troy Fillingim donated the fresh peanuts to the chapter. During the month of October students sold fruit from River Brite Citrus, Inc. Josh McWaters and Heather Arnold were the top sellers. They each sold 90 cases of fruit. For selling the most fruit, Josh and Heather were awarded a $200 savings bond, a FFA t-shirt, and an official FFA jacket. The chapter sold over $10,000 in fruit. In December there were 25 chapter members at the Christmas cookout. Members had to decide at the beginning of the year in which contest they wished to compete. In March nine students competed at the county contest that was held at the New Brockton Farm Center. Twenty-three students competed on April 23, 1999 in Ozark at the district FFA eliminations. Blakely Helms won the big buck contest with a buck that scored 108 points. The two biggest things of the year were National FFA week and the banquet. National FFA week was celebrated in February. During this special week various activities were planned. Cherry pie was served to the members of the chapter. On another day each member wore blue and/or gold. Wednesday of that week was "drive your tractor to school day." Posters and banners, proclaiming FFA week were hung in several places. In May the activities of the year were concluded with a banquet.

The senior FFA members (top) are Sherry Scarbrough, Angie Laney, Kendra Ward, Jessica Cotton, Paige Hudson, Josh Faircloth, Cristy Houston, Chan Grantham, Charlie Maddox, Bart Hughes, Matt Dunn, Blake Weeks, Ryan Leverett, Derrick Vance, Jeremy Bray, and John Arnold. # BETA Something new for the Senior Beta club was their new sponsor, Mrs. Lisa Deubelt. Something old was the service project that placed student workers in the canteen at break.

Several club members attended the Alabama Beta Convention that was held in Birmingham in March. Some of them participated in academic, talent, and arts and crafts competitions. They were housed at the Sheraton Hotel. The club was represented at the language arts tournament held at the Lurleen Burns Wallace Junior College in Andalusia. Matt Dunn won second place for his short story.

In December three actors from Small Time Outreach Productions (STOP) performed The Complete Works of William Shakespeare (Abridged) in 60 minutes. STOP is located in Auburn, Alabama.

In May a joint initiation was held for new members in the Junior and Senior Beta Clubs. The six new Senior Beta Club members are Daphne Jinright, Ceretha Towles, Heather Danley, Amy Perry, Kendra Ward, and Bo Adkison. President Charlie Maddox conducted the ceremonies.

Junior BETA

A community project for the Junior Beta club was the first yearly activity. They painted the letters, ZCHS, on the front of the fence that surrounded the campus. Their next project was to adopt an angel for Christmas. The club members participated in an almost continuous fund raising activity to raise the funds necessary to make a trip to Chattanooga, Tennessee, in May. For two days, thirty-seven club members toured Rock City, the Aquarium, IMAX, a three dimensional theater, Ruby Falls, and enjoyed a walking tour, "Ghosts of Chattanooga". At the conclusion of their trip they went aboard a southern riverboat where they ate a real dinner in the southern riverboat tradition. New Junior Beta club members this year are Brandon Arnold, Sawn Johnson, and Kim Bullock.

Spanish Club

As with many clubs, the first activities of a school year for the Spanish club was the election of officers and the collection of dues. Club members raised money and cans of food for a needy family. They went to Dothan to see the play, El Barbero de Sevilla that was presented by the National Theater of the Performing Arts at Honeysuckle Middle School. Toward the end of the year they made maracas and cooked several Spanish meals. On cinco de Mayo they made flowers out of crate paper. The club purchased prom shirts and presented them to the senior members of the club.

Twenty-six units of blood were collected at a sponsored blood drive. At the drive SGA member worked a thirty minute segment. The blood drive was considered a successful service project for the association.

The elementary SGA held a Thanksgiving can food drive and 578 cans were collected. They collected toys which were delivered to Toys for Tots and then to be distributed to needy children.

State Department Mandates New Board Policy

A composite average of 70 in the CORE courses is required before a student can participate in extra-curricular activities.

On October 1, 1998, the Coffee County Board of Education passed a new policy mandated by the Alabama State Department of Education concerning extracurricular activities.

Students in grades 10-12 who did not have a composite 70 average in the four core courses of English, science, social studies, and math as well as a 70 overall average in six subjects, were not allowed to participate in any activities which did not have an academic focus. This has been interpreted to mean such activities as band, athletics, prom, club and class activities, field trips, homecoming activities, and any other activities that occur outside of instruction.

Students in grades 8 and 9 must have passed 5 subjects the preceding year with a composite average of 70 to be eligible. Physical Education only counted one unit per year and no more than two units could be made up in summer school.

It was important that students understand the impact of this state-wide rule. As the year progressed, students were earning credits toward their eligibility. Everyone had to understand that the grades earned each school year will determine student eligibility in the activities next year. Students not eligible at the beginning of the year may be eligible at the end of the first semester.

Cheerleaders Double As Band Members

Daphne Jinright, Sarah Maddox, and Christina Shuman cheered during the game and played an instrument at half-time.

A small high school does not always have the advantage of having a large enough population to fill every position that is required to carry out extracurricular activities. Sometimes people have to do double-duty. Three instances of double-duty occurred during the school year.

Daphne Jinright is a junior and is a first-year varsity cheerleader. She cheered during the four quarters of the ball game but during halftime she joined the members of the Rebel Band to perform a halftime show. Daphne plays the saxophone. When asked about her double duty responsibilities she said, "It was worth it. I think we need a five minute break between cheering and marching to relax."

Sarah Maddox and Christina Shuman were two more varsity cheerleaders who pulled double duty. Sarah is a sophomore and has been a cheerleader for two years. She played the bells for the band during the halftime show. Her thoughts on double duty were, "It stressed me out but it was worth every minute of it." Christina is a junior. She is a second-year cheerleader and played the trumpet during the halftime show. Christina said, "I loved it and it was definitely worth it. The only thing I would change is to sleep more so I would be more prepared for the hard work."

"Baby Think It Over"

Students in Home Ec classes get to experience what parenthood is really like.

The "Baby Think It Over" project, conducted by some students in the Home and Family classes instructed by Mrs. Joan Hobbs, gave the class members something to really think about. The purpose of the project was to give students the simulated experience of raising a baby at a young age. The program was designed to help students understand the three basic facts about babies. Babies make endless demands and they are unpredictable. They need lots of attention and they will completely change a teenager's life.

Each simulation lasted three days. The babies have three different mood settings: cranky, normal and calm. Students that participated were on call for twenty-four hours a day. They cry randomly and when they do so you have a key that you have to insert in the key hole that is an electronic computer. You have to hold the key till it stops crying, sometimes they would cry up to twenty minutes at a time.

The students received four grades while caring for these babies. One grade was based on the abuse, neglect, and unattended crying recorded by the computer chip in the baby. Another grade was based upon the baby's condition when it is turned in. A grade was given on whether or not there was any tampering with the electronics. The final grade was based on a journal where each student had recorded events they had experienced with their baby.

The students who participated in the project were Josh Grantham, Wes Killingsworth, Jill Jinright, Johnny Branham, Matt Nelson, Wendy Greene, Tania Palma, Jessica Cotton, Lateisha Flournoy, Wayne Kidd, Amanda Lee, Amanda Rainey, Tyler Banks, Alexis Belle, Joey Gibson, and Marlena Kerr.

The two students who seemed to be the most "prepared" for parenthood and scored the highest were Alexis Bell and Josh Grantham. However, some students did not do as well. The highest number of instances of neglect and abuse upon one baby was thirty-three. The students involved in the project had different feelings about the experience. Many thought that they should definitely wait to have children, while others loved the idea of having a child. Some students did not want to give the babies back. Mrs. Hobbs said, "The experiment was an overall success, we got our message across."

Extended Schedule Followed For The First Time

A third week of vacation at Christmas and a second week during Spring Holidays were positive points for the extended schedule.

The schools in Coffee County adopted a new kind of schedule for the 1998-99 school year. The schedule is called an extended school year. School was attended the same number of days, the days were just spread throughout the year.

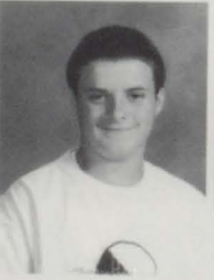

There was more time out for holidays. School was out for a week that included Columbus Day, a week at Thanksgiving, three weeks for Christmas, and two weeks for Spring Break. The traditional holidays like Labor Day, Veterans Day, and the Presidents Day were included in the new schedule. Some students were interviewed to see how they liked the new schedule.

Chan Grantham said: "I really enjoyed it a lot better than the regular school year. Our vacations were extended." Christina Shuman said: "I really enjoyed the new school calendar. It was kind of hard to adjust but when we got into it, it was a whole lot easier."

Michell McIntosh: "I really enjoyed the new school calendar, especially since we got two weeks for spring break."

Alisha Walker said: "I really enjoyed the new calendar. I wish they had started it before my senior year."

Middle School Has A Newspaper

Dawn Johnson and Ashley Smith are the editors of the Rebel news from the middle school.

This year the middle school sponsored their own newspaper. The idea for the newspaper was presented to the middle school teachers by Mr. Littleton. The teachers agreed that it would be a great experience for the students.

Mrs. Dedra Henson was the newspaper sponsor and co-editors were Ashley Smith and Dawn Johnson. The seventh graders worked on the paper. Reporters worked on their own time gathering information. Then, once a month, everyone met and the stories were collected. The news stories included faculty news, sports, news from the band, sixth and seventh grade news, Jr. BETA Club news, and ZCMS SGA news.

When Mrs. Henson was asked what she thought the students learned from having their own newspaper she said, "I believe they are learning responsibility and good writing and grammar skills. Also, they have had to learn to organize themselves and to meet deadlines.

Where Do I Park?

Parking Lot Rules At ZC

Parking areas at Zion Chapel were in front of the main building, beside the gym, and in a paved marked area behind the school. Faculty, staff, and students were assigned parking spaces and had to park in designated areas. Visitor parking was the large area in front of the Science-Vocational Building. There were also two visitor parking spaces beside the front door to the main building. Visitors were asked to remember that if they parked in an assigned place, they were making it difficult for someone who had to park there for the day.

The assignment of parking places and traffic control was under the direction of the FFA and its sponsor, Mr. John McCrory. There were traffic rules and failure to follow these rules resulted in a citation or a fine. All fines were $2 and failure to pay a fine resulted in the loss of driving privileges. Revenue resulting from fines went to the FFA.

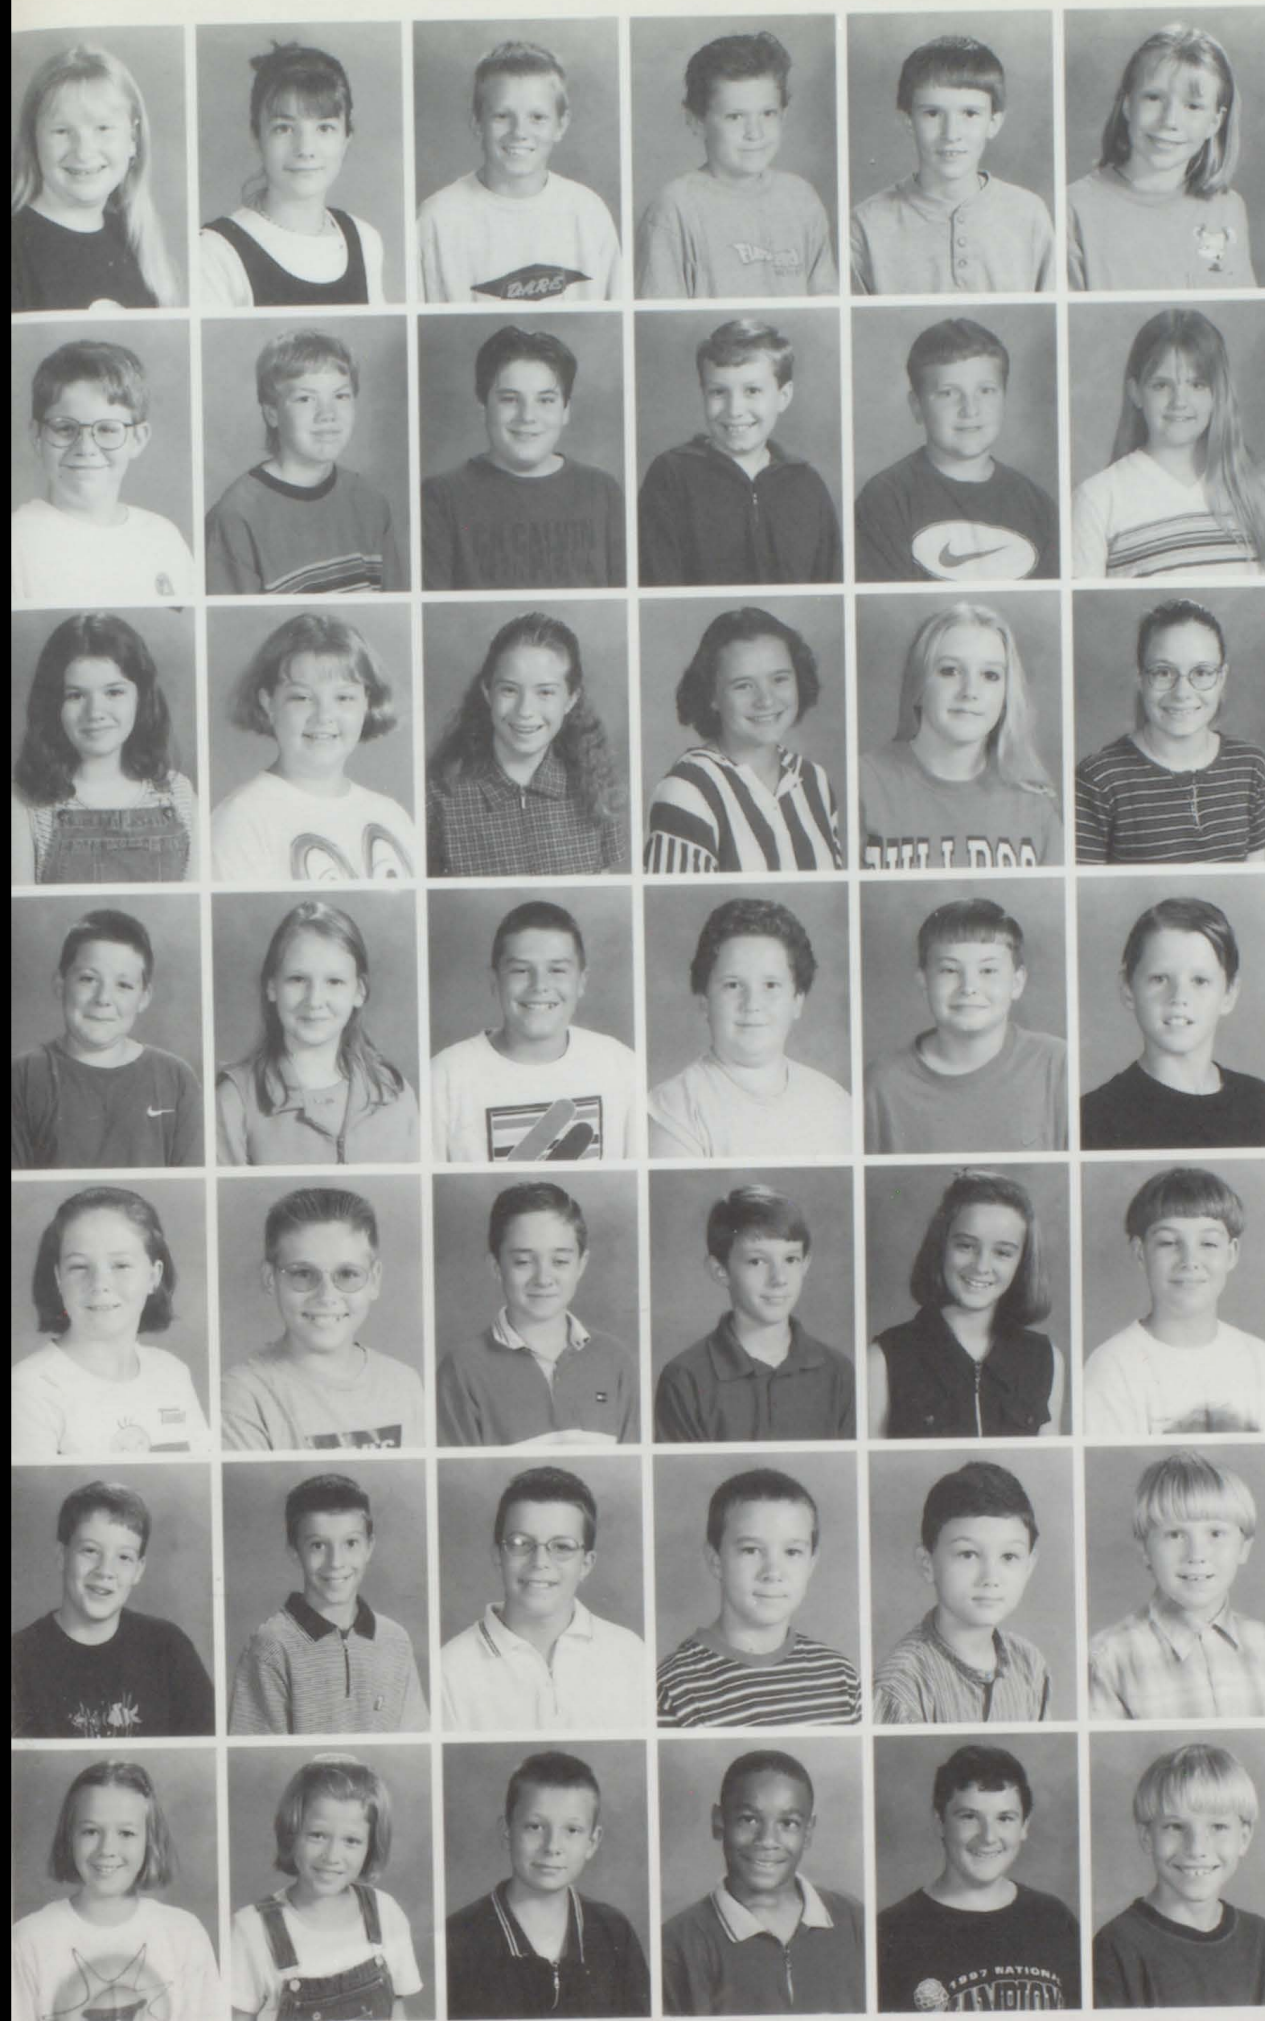

There were several traffic rules that were considered major rules. It was mandatory that these rules be followed. Traffic signs had to be obeyed. The speed limit on campus was five miles per hour. All parking was conformed to marked-off areas. Parking on a line or over a line was prohibited.

Motorists had to yield to pedestrians. There was to be no loitering and vehicles had to be removed from the parking lot immediately after school. Students were told not to leave purses, radar detectors, books, stereos, or other valuable clearly visible in unattended vehicles. Vehicles should be locked. Students had to exit their vehicles immediately upon arriving at school and were not allowed to return to their vehicles until after school.

Youthful Offenders Get A Second Chance

Speeding can cause a requirement for further education

Some youthful offenders have to attend Driving School.

The required attendance was a result of getting a speeding ticket. If a person is stopped for speeding, and is 18 or younger, they can plead youthful offender. If the judge accepts the plea, the ticket does not go on their record. The youthful offender plea can only be used once. Then the judge decides whether or not to give them the option of paying the full price of the ticket or paying and attending Driving School.

Driving School is held in Enterprise on Thursdays from 6:30 p.m.-10:30 p.m. According to the students, it is similar to a driver's education course and is not very exciting. After completion of the course, a certificate is presented to the people who pass the test.

Elementary Accelerated Reading

Z.C.E.S. ACCELERATED READING PROGRAM

There is now an Accelerated Reading Program for the Zion Chapel Elementary School.

This is a program that motivates children to read books by rewarding them points for each book they read. Once a month the children can cash their points in for prizes of their choice. The classes who participated in this program was first through fifth grades.

Each teacher scheduled approximately an hour of Accelerated Reading per day. The students checked books from the library. After reading a book a test had to be taken by the student. The grade on the test had to be 70 percent or above before points were awarded for reading the book. A progress report was printed for the students after each test.

Mr. Bob Andrews motivated the students by saying he would dress up as a woman if accumulated points of all students participating added up to 5000 or more. The number of points earned went passed that number and Mr. Andrews kept his promise. The members of the class which earned the most points were given a pizza party. Ms. Beverly McCall and her third graders were the winners with 1595 points. The classes of Mrs. Kelley Cobb, Mrs. Rosalind Brown, Ms. Beverly McCall, Mrs. Chris Sutley, and Mrs. Jo An Jones were awarded ice cream parties. The top accelerated readers were McKinley Arnette, Lara Lee Beasley, Justin Winters, Brooke Stinson, Jon Fuller, Keri Flowers, Amber Powell, Brittany Liptrot, Tiffany Liptrot, Xavier Clark, Tara Howe Davis, Zack Senn, and Kirsten Collins.

"Ain't Nothing But The Blues"

"It Ain't Nothin' But The Blues" was the title of a performance seen by Zion Chapel's seventh graders and eleventh graders at the Alabama Shakespeare Festival (ASF) SchoolFest Program. The seventh grade went on a Tuesday and the eleventh grade went on a Wednesday of the same week. There were certain requirements that had to be met before a member of the seventh grade class was eligible to make the field trip. A person had to have passing grades and no more than one discipline slip for the semester. There were 37 students who made the field trip. Mrs. Jane Coale, Mrs. Sharon Sasser, and Mr. Randy Grant were the chaperones for the seventh graders. Mrs. Lisa Duebelt, Mr. Steve Duebelt, Terry Finder, and Mr. Randy Grant were the chaperones for the eleventh graders.

"It Ain't Nothin' But The Blues" is a narrative musical revue that explores the birth and development of the blues. According to the booklet prepared for the study materials by the ASF "the blues is America's great musical creation and it is a form of music that has touched every other form of popular music in this country. The roots of the blues generate from black experience, with rhythms and tunes bridging the Atlantic Ocean from Africa to America, where its roots grew deep in the soil of the South. The memory of slavery and the experience of segregation found their voice in the blues, and so did the pain, the pressures, the joys, and the exuberance of human life. The blues has many sounds, many tones, many colors and attitudes, but only one heart, an open one, an honest one, a full one."

The forty-six songs in "It Ain't Nothin' But The Blues" range across history diversity, and expressiveness of the blues. Seventeen of the songs are traditional, so old or so pervasive in the background of blues music that no author or source can be found.

4 × 4
Curriculum
Required
By The State

This new curriculum requires four courses in the CORE classes of English, Math, Science, and Social Studies.

Two new classes were added to the curriculum this year in response to the new 4×4 plan. The 4×4 plan states that every student must have four years of science, history, English, and math. This is true for students on the advanced curriculum as well as the standard curriculum.

The students on the advanced curriculum already had to have four years of English and history, but only three math and science classes. To keep the students on the standard curriculum from having to take the same courses and those in the advanced curriculum, Technical Math I and II were added to the course offerings. Technical Math I and II are courses in algebra that are spread out over two years. The same material is covered but in a different way from the traditional I and II.

The same principle applies to geometry. It is now called Technical Geometry I and II. The subject matter is spread out over a two-year period and it has more technical applications.

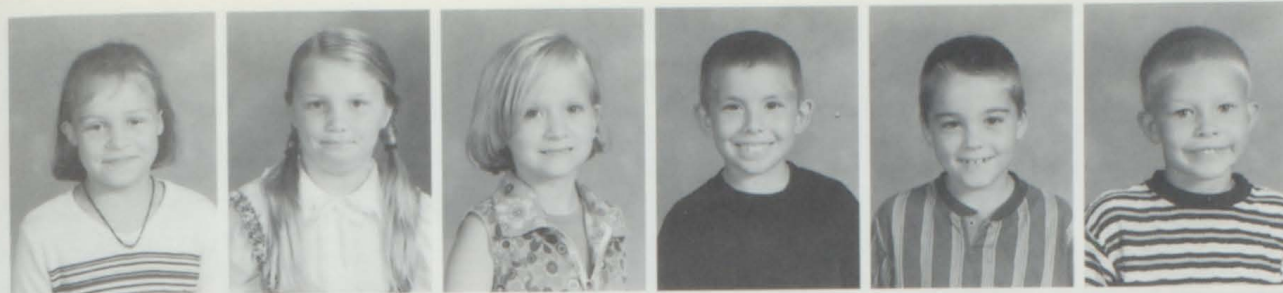

Technical Math I and II count as a whole credit each, and Technical Geometry I and II count as a whole credit each. Technical Math I is for ninth graders, Technical Math II is for tenth graders, Technical Geometry I is for eleventh graders, and Technical Geometry II is for twelfth graders. This allows students who have chosen the standard curriculum to earn four credits in math.

The members of the class of 1999 did not have to have four math credits. This requirement will begin with the class of 2000.

Morgan Hodge Attends HOBY Seminar

To be picked to attend the Hugh O'Brian Youth Leadership Seminar (HOBY) means that a person is about to experience a fantastic opportunity to learn how to become a leader, and a good citizen.

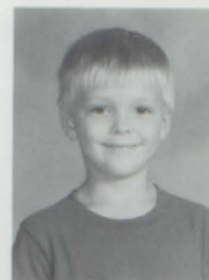

While a sophomore, Morgan Hodge was chosen to attend the HOBY Seminar in Montgomery. Morgan was nominated by one of her teachers, and it was voted on by the ZC faculty.

The HOBY Seminar was held at Huntingdon College in Montgomery, Alabama. Students from all over the state attended this seminar. All the attendees were divided into groups on the first day so that all students would get the full experience of the three days. They were then divided into even smaller groups for more personal seminars.

The HOBY sponsors provided for a special luncheon on Friday where the ambassadors could socialize with a career person of their choice. Morgan ate lunch with Beth Jhett from WSFA, and a broadcaster from a Christian radio station. These were not the only special activities planned for the week. There was also a dance and a banquet held.

Morgan said that this was a very valuable experience for her. She said that she made friends that would last her a lifetime.
